DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species :

Species I: disclosed in paragraphs 27-40, describing an image forming device comprising: a transporting unit for transporting a document sheet by sheet to a specified reading position; a document judgment unit for judging whether the document transported by said transporting unit is an electronically tagged printed matter that includes an electronic tag storing original image data; a printing paper judgment unit for judging whether there is an instruction for printing the original image data on an electronically tagged printing paper equipped with an electronic tag; a reading unit for reading the original image data from the electronic tag of the document which is judged as said electronically tagged printing matter by said document judgment unit, when said printing paper judgment unit judges that there is an instruction for printing on an electronically tagged printing paper equipped with a electronic tag; and a printing unit for printing the original image data on an electronically tagged printing paper equipped with an electronic tag, wherein the original image data is read by said reading unit, wherein said printing unit issues a blank paper as an output, when a document is judged not as an electronically tagged matter by said document judgment unit

Species II: disclosed in paragraphs 42-51, describing an image forming device comprising: a transporting unit for transporting a document sheet by sheet to a specified reading position; a document judgment unit for judging whether the document transported by said transporting unit is an electronically tagged printed matter that includes an electronic tag storing original image data; a printing paper judgment unit for judging whether there is an instruction for printing the original image data on an electronically tagged printing paper equipped with an electronic tag; a reading unit for reading the original image data from the electronic tag of the document which is judged as the electronically tagged printing matter by said document judgment unit, when said printing paper judgment unit judges that there is an instruction for printing on an electronically tagged printing paper equipped with a electronic tag; and a printing unit for printing the original image data on an electronically tagged printing paper equipped with an electronic tag, wherein the original image data is read by said reading unit, wherein said printing unit issues no output, when a document is judged not as an electronically tagged matter by said document judgment unit while said printing paper judgment unit judges that there is an instruction for printing on a printing paper equipped with a electronic tag.

2. The species are independent or distinct because claims to the different species recite the mutually exclusive characteristics of such species. In addition, these species are not obvious variants of each other based on the current record.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, no generic.

There is an examination and search burden for these patentably distinct species due to their mutually exclusive characteristics. The species require a different field of search (e.g., searching different classes/subclasses or electronic resources, or employing different search queries); and/or the prior art applicable to one species would not likely be applicable to another species; and/or the species are likely to raise different non-prior art issues under 35 U.S.C. 101 and/or 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

The election of the species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the election of species requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse. Traversal must be presented at the time of election in order to be considered timely. Failure to timely traverse the requirement will result in the loss of right to petition under 37 CFR 1.144. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable on the elected species.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the species unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other species.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141.
